Part one:

Put (T) in front of correct sentences and (F) in front of incorrect ones:(10 M)

1-Children all over the world start putting words together at approximately the same age.   (   )

2-All languages are surprisingly different in their basic structure.   (   )

3-A linguist need not be fluent in languages.   (   )

4-Modern linguistics is prescriptive.   (   )

5-Semantics has no relation with grammar.   (   )

6-In human language there is a strong recognizable link between the actual sign and the message a human wants to convey.   (   )

7-Animals inherit their communication systems.   (   )

8-Bloomfield managed to identify fool proof rules of English language structure.   (   )

9-In America linguistics began as an offshoot of anthropology.   (   )

10-Bloomfield depended heavily on meaning when he studied languages.   (   )
_____

Part2: Write short notes on the following:(20 M)

 a-Definition of human Language

B-Arbitrariness as a design feature of human language .

c-Definition of linguistics.

d-De Saussure

Good Luck